

2006~2007 学年度上学期期末考试高二年级英语试卷答案

I. 听力

1-5 BCBCB 6-10 CBBAC 11-15 BBBBA 16-20 CABCB

II. 单项选择

21-25 CCAAB 26-30 ACDBC 31-35 ABCAA

III. 完型填空

36-40 BACDA 41-45 BDACC 46-50 ADACB 51-55 DDABC

IV. 阅读理解

56-59 ADBC 60-63 BDBA 64-67 CCDA 68-71 BDBA 72-75 DBBA

V. 短文改错

76. 在 university 前加 a 77. live 改为 living 78. difficulty 改为 difficult
79. admit 后加 to 80. ask 后加 for 81. 将 but 去掉 82. among 改为 between
83. great 改为 greatly 84. 正确 85. do 改为 did.

VI. 作文

one possible version:

Is watching TV Good or Bad?

Television has become an important part of our daily life. Many children like to watch TV. They say they can get a lot of fun as well as information which is useful to their studies from watching TV. Also watching TV can relax them when they feel tired. Besides, watching some educational programmes is also a kind of study.

But on the contrary, some of the parents are against their children's watching TV. They say watching TV usually takes too much time, which is not good for children's studies. Nor is it good for their eyes. What's worse, there are too many programmes about love and violence on TV, and these programmes are not suitable for the kids.

In my opinion, what we should blame is not TV itself. In fact, parents should guide their children on how to make good use of television and try to avoid its bad effects.

附听力原文:

Text 1

M: It only takes two hours to get to New York, but you'll have to wait six hours between flights.

W: Oh, that's good. I don't mind having some time in New York. I still have a few things to buy.

Text 2

W: Don't you have an air conditioner in your apartment? It's very hot here!

M: Well, there is an air conditioner. Do you see that window air conditioner over there? The problem is that it's not powerful enough.

W: I guess not, huh.

Text 3

W: How much do these cost?

M: They are $17.98

W: Don't you think that's expensive for a pair of gloves?

M: Not at all. That's the best price in town.

Text 4

M: Excuse me, could you tell me how to get to the Grand Hotel? I thought it was on this corner but I seem to have made a mistake.

W: Hmm, I'm sorry I don't know. Maybe you should try calling them.

Text 5

M: Excuse me, madam. I'm looking for some flowers to send to my teacher.

W: Let's see. These fresh roses are very nice.

Text 6

W: Good morning, Mr. Sharp. I'm really sorry I'm late.

M: You're late every morning, Miss Smith. You were late on Tuesday and yesterday. Don't you have a watch?

W: Yes, but it wasn't my fault. I stood in the rain for an hour this morning, waiting and waiting for a bus. And then when one came, it was full.

M: How about yesterday and the day before yesterday and...

W: Well, I came by taxi yesterday and ...

M: And you were still late! And Tuesday?

W: On Tuesday I went to see the doctor and I waited for my turn for about two hours. It was terrible.

M: And tomorrow, Miss Smith?

Text 7

W: Who's singing in your house, Daniel?

M: It's Linda and her friends. Linda's my little niece. She's ten. It's her birthday. They're singing Happy Birthday to You.

W: I suppose they are playing games.

M: Maybe. Linda was playing games all day yesterday. By the way, Julia, when's your birthday?

W: Today.

M: Today? Well, imagine that. How old are you?

W: Eighteen. By the way, some friends are having a party for me tonight. Do you want to come?

M: Of course! What time?

W: At about 8:00.

M: I'll be at your house at about ten. All right?

W: Fine.

M: And, Julia, Happy birthday!

Text 8

Each year the board of governors of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences selects a candidate to receive its most important award, the Governor's Award. The recipient of this year's award is a man whose career in television is so monumental in terms of length and public acceptance that he is truly unique in his field. Many labels have been attached to him over the years by fans, television critics, and heads of state. President Kennedy called him "America's most prized ambassador of good will throughout the world" when he awarded him the Congressional Gold Medal.

Tonight we honor him for his contribution to television. Bob Hope has been delighting television audiences with his magnificent humor for 35 years now, and we're certain that he will continue for many more years. For his ability to make us laugh during the good times and laugh even harder during the bad times, we owe him a great debt. He is an ageless wonder for all of us. Hope springs eternal. Ladies and gentlemen, the recipient of this year's Governor's Award, Bob Hope!

Text 9

M: Can I help you?

W: I'm looking for a sweater for my husband.

M: Yes, madam. What color would you like?

W: Show me a gray one, please.

M: What size?

W: A size 38

M: Something like this perhaps? It's a very good sweater.

W: Perhaps, but haven't you anything better?

M: What about a black sweater/

W: No, it's too dark.

M: Now this green sweater is brighter than the black one.

W: No, please hurry up.

M: Something like this blue sweater?

W: Blue, hmmm... yes. I think I like that. How much does it cost?

M: 8 pounds

W: 8 pounds! Good heavens! Haven't you anything ... anything... uh...

M: Cheaper than this madam? Only this gray sweater. It costs 4 pounds.

W: That's exactly what I'm looking for. Why didn't you show it to me before?

M: But I did, madam! It was the first one you saw!

Text 10

Few people would even think of beginning a new job at the age of 76, but one of America's most famous artists did just that. Anna Mary Robertson, better known as "Grandma Moses" turned to painting because she was too old to work on her farm.

Grandma Moses painted carefully and her works were nice. She first painted only to please herself, and then began to sell her works for a little money. In 1939, a collector, Louis Caldor happened to see several of Grandma Moses' works hanging in a shop. He liked them, bought them at once, and set out to look for more. Caldor held a show to introduce the works of Grandma Moses to other artists.

Grandma Moses died on December 13, 1961, at the age of 101. She was world famous.