 Passage 3

In a big city, everyone is in a hurry in the early morning. This morning people are hurrying out of the train station, buses and cars. Some people are stopping only to drink a quick cup of coffee. There is no time for breakfast. By eight thirty, one after another the shops along the streets open for business. People work busily all day. At six o'clock in the evening, people hurry home after work. Most of the offices are closed, but some shops are still open.

Many people work at night in a big city. Tonight, bright lights are shining from the windows of the tallest buildings. In newspaper offices, reporters are working hard. In hospitals night nurses are taking care of the patients.

All through the evening, taxis and buses take people around the city. Some people are going to the plays. Some are going to the cinema. You can hear the sounds of people on the sidewalks. Some are stopping to look in the bright shop windows. The others are waiting for buses and taxis.

Day and night you can find people working and playing in a big city. A big city never sleeps.
