Did you know that over ten million American kids go to camp every summer? Summer camp has been a U.S. tradition for over 150 years. Kids have different reasons for making camp part of their lives, such as:

◆To Meet New People

Camping might give you a chance to be with people from different places. It is a great way to make new friends and learn about different places and cultures.

◆To Enjoy Nature

There is a great big natural world out, and going to camp helps you learn how beautiful it really is. Without trees, water and wildlife, the Earth (and all the people on it) couldn't survive.

◆To Learn New Skills

Camping can also help you develop (发展) important life skills like independence (独立) and confidence (自信). Since you'll live with a whole group of people, it's also a great way to learn about cooperation (合作).

◆To Get Healthy

With all the fun games and physical activities, going to camp can be a great way to get exercise and fresh air. Swimming, hiking and playing sports are much healthier choices to hang around at home all summer.
