B

A recent study, published in last week's Journal of the American Medical Association, offers a picture of how dangerous it is to get a lift from a teenage driver. Indeed, a 16-year-old driver with three or more passengers is three times as likely to have a serious accident as a teenager driving alone.

The author also found that the death rate for teenage drivers increased dramatically after 10 pm, and especially after midnight. With passengers in the car, the driver was even more likely to die in a late-night accident.

Robert Foss, a scientist at the University of North Carolina Highway Safety Research Center, says the higher death rates for teenage drivers have less to do with "really stupid behavior" than with just a lack of driving experience. "The basic problem," he says, "is that adults who are responsible for giving out licenses fail to recognize how complex and skilled a task driving is.”

Both he and the author of the study believe that the way to mitigate (使缓解) the problem is to have states set up so-called graduated licensing systems, in which getting a license is a process with several stages. A graduated license requires that a teenager first prove himself able to drive in the presence of an adult, followed by a period of driving with night of passenger restrictions (限制) before graduating to full driving rights.

Graduated licensing systems have reduced teenage driver crashes, according to recent studies.

60. Which of the following situations is most dangerous according to the passage?
- A. Adults giving a lift to teenagers on the highway after 10 pm.
 - B. A teenager driving after midnight with passengers in the car.
 - C. Adults driving with three or more teenage passengers late at night.
 - D. A teenager getting a lift from a stranger on the highway at midnight.
61. According to Robert Foss, the high death rate of teenage drivers is mainly due to ____.
- A. their lack of driving experience
 - B. their frequent driving at night
 - C. their improper way of driving
 - D. their driving with passengers
62. According to Paragraph 3, which of the following statements is TRUE?
- A. Teenagers should spend more time learning to drive.
 - B. Driving is a skill too complex for teenagers to learn.
 - C. Restrictions should be forced on teenagers demanding to take driving licenses.
 - D. The licensing department is partly responsible for teenagers' driving accidents.
63. A suggested measure to be taken to reduce teenagers' driving accidents is that ____.
- A. the licensing system should be improved
 - B. they should be forbidden to take on passengers
 - C. they should not be allowed to drive after 10 pm
 - D. driving in the presence of an adult should be made a rule

C

Welcome, everybody, to the lovely house and gardens of Rosewood, once the home of the famous writer, Sebastian George. He bought the house in 1902 although he had first seen it two years earlier. At that time the owners let it out to a tenant (租户) because George was too slow making up his mind to buy it. When it came back on the market, there was no hesitation (犹豫) and he bought it immediately, for £ 9,300, even though the house had no bathroom, no running water upstairs and no electricity.

When he came here, he'd been married for ten years. During that time, he'd become one of the most famous writers in the English-speaking world. His professional success was great, but his personal life wasn't as successful. He was no longer on speaking terms with his brother and had been devastated (压倒) by the death at the age of seven of his elder daughter, Josephine.

Moving to Rosewood allowed the family to start a new life. George regarded Rosewood as a pure example of a traditional country house of this part of England and did some of his most successful writing here. The house and its grounds became the family haven (避难所) and their escape to privacy and quiet.

64. When the writer Sebastian George first saw Rosewood House, he _____
- A. thought he might rent it
 - B. felt it was too expensive for him
 - C. was unsure whether to buy it
 - D. bought it
65. Before buying the house, George had _____
- A. experienced some family problems
 - B. struggled to become a successful writer
 - C. suffered a serious illness
 - D. divorced (离婚)
66. According to the speaker, George treated Rosewood House as _____
- A. a rich source of material for his books
 - B. a way to escape from his work
 - C. a traditional building of the region
 - D. a place to spend his holidays

One of the great advantages of growing houseplants is how good they make your home look.

“When I design a home, I put a houseplant in every room, because I don't think a room is complete without a live plant,” said interior (室内) designer Barbara. “When you bring a living object into a room, you promote feelings of nature, life and vitality. The different shades of green also soften a space and give it a lived-in look.”

Indoor plants make great decorator pieces, agreed interior designer Stacey. “Most furnishings and architectural details are made up of hard surfaces and straight lines, but houseplants add softness and depth to a space,” she said.

With their wide variety of leaf shapes, sizes, colors and textures, houseplants can be used to decorate just about any interior, and they serve a wide variety of design purposes.

“Houseplants can be used to make a room look larger,” said Stacey. If you want to make a ceiling appear higher, for instance, put a tall, thin plant in the corner of the room. To fill in dead corners, use a tall, bushy plant. If you don't have enough space for floor plants, try hanging houseplants.

You can also use houseplants to make large rooms look smaller. Accomplish this by bringing in a plant that is oversized for the space, which will make the ceiling feel lower, or choose a plant that grows up and then drapes (悬垂).

Plants can also be used to break up large living spaces and create transitions between rooms.

“If your home’s design is such that you step right into your living room when you enter your house, you can make the entry less unpleasant with a line of houseplants,” said Barbara.

Clusters (丛; 群) of small plants add a decorative touch to certain areas of the home such as on desks, pianos, fire-place mantels, nightstands and in bathrooms next to sinks or on bathtub decks. They can be placed in individual decorative pots or grouped together in a basket or larger pot.

67. According to Barbara, a plant is _____ in the room one lives in.

- A. an object B. a must C. an advantage D. a life

68. The plants in the home will make living _____.

- A. soft B. complete C. natural D. comfortable

69. The followings are the decorative purposes of houseplants except _____.

- A. making a room look less empty
B. bringing life into the house
C. making the air of the room fresh
D. softening the hard surfaces and lines of furniture

70. With _____ in the corner, the ceiling will appear high.

- A. a short plant B. an oversized plant
C. a tall slim plant D. a thin plant

第二节 (共 5 小题; 每小题 2 分, 满分 10 分)

根据短文内容, 从短文后的选项中选出能填入空白处的最佳选项。选项中有两项为多余选项。

For several years, Americans have enjoyed teleshopping—— watching TV and buying things by phone. 71 In a number of European countries, people can turn on their TVs and shop for clothes, jewelry, food, toys and many other things.

72 For example, the biggest Swedish company sells different kinds of things on TV in 15 European countries, and in one year it made $ 100 million.

In France there are two teleshopping channels, and the French spend about $20 million in a year to buy things through those channels.

In Germany, until last year teleshopping was only possible on one channel for 1 hour every day. Then the government allowed more teleshopping. Other channels can open for telebusiness, including the largest American teleshopping company and a 24-hour teleshopping company.

73

Some people like teleshopping because it allows them to do their shopping without leaving their homes. With all the problems of traffic in the cities, this is an important reason, but at the same time, other Europeans do not like this new way of shopping . 74 Many Europeans usually worry about the quality of the things for sale on TV. Good quality is important to them, and they believe they cannot be sure about the quality of the things on TV.

75 They will have to be more careful about the quality of the things they sell. They will also have to work harder to sell things that the buyers cannot touch or see in person.

- A. Now teleshopping is starting in Europe
- B. They call teleshopping “ Junk on the air “
- C. Teleshopping is becoming popular in Sweden
- D. German businesses are hoping this new teleshopping will help them sell more things
- E. The need for high quality means that European teleshopping companies will have to be different from the American companies.
- F. Teleshopping is popular among people.
- G. German teleshopping business is controlled by America.

第二卷（共 35 分）

第四部分：写作（共两节，满分 35 分）

此题要求改正所给短文中的错误。如有错误（每句最多只有二个错误，全文共十处，改超过十处以前十处计分），则按下列情况改正：

此句多一个词：把多余的词用斜线（\）划掉。

此句缺一个词：在缺词处加一个漏字符号（^），在正下方写出该加的词。

此句错一个词：在错的词下划一横线，在该词正下方写出改正后的词。

注意：每处错误及其修改只限一词；没有错的不要改。

When I was at middle school, I have a nice classmate. She was friendly and very pretty, that was the first foreigner I had ever met. She was good in three languages, although he was born in China. It was interested that her father was a Frenchman while her mother came from England. All of them were teaching at a university at that time. She loved collecting stamps, listening pop music , as well as playing the football. Her dream was to be an engineer, so she usually studied harder to achieve it. She often told funny stories in English to make us laughing. We all liked her.

第二节 书面表达(满分 25 分)

Suppose you are Tom and you borrowed some books from our school library. Unfortunately you have to go away to visit a sick relative and cannot return the books in time.

Write a letter to the library. Explain what has happened and tell them what you want to do about it.

You should write at least 100 words.

ONE POSSIBLE VERSION :

Dear Sir or Madam ,

I am writing to explain why I have been unable to return the three books in time .After taking the books out on 16th March, I had an urgent phone call from my elderly aunt's neighbor saying that my aunt had had a fall and had been taken into hospital. As her only relative in this country , I felt I had to go and see her immediately . Unfortunately , my aunt's condition has only improved very slowly and the hospital says if all goes well, she should be able to go home in two or three days, in which case I will be back next Monday. Bearing in mind of the circumstances, I trust you will kindly cancel any fines that may have accumulated .

Yours sincerely,
Tom
