A) I was a girl born with a problem in my spine (脊柱). Moving was a big problem for me. But because of my teachers and my friends, my school life was great.

My friends and I sat together. When we were free, we often played games. We often had lunch together. If I didn't go to school that day, my friends would help me with my notes (笔记).

All my teachers were nice. My English teacher was very tall. When she entered the classroom, we would all be quiet and open our books. She would sit down and listen to me speaking English. My English improved a lot because of her help.

It was the same with my maths teacher, my science teacher and my P.E. teacher. My teachers were very nice and very sweet. They would always help me when I had a problem. They also gave me important project work and I felt happy when I finished it quickly and correctly.

I really want to show my thanks to all my wonderful teachers and friends. Without them, my school life would not have been so happy.

be able to (能) do it? Will the children like me? Am I going to enjoy this job?" I opened the door. It was a bright room with many toys. I went into the room, thinking about what would come next.

During the next two hours, children of all ages entered. The doctor there told me that some of the children in the room would not even see Christmas this year. However, they all had smiles on their faces. I could see how happy these children were.

I asked one child, "Do you like it here?" He answered, "Yes, but I wish I weren't sick." Hearing his words, I wished I were a real children's doctor, and then I could give him more help.

I went there every Sunday. After a few weeks at CHOC, I began to love this job. I was happy that I could help others. I looked forward to going to work there every week. I really hoped what I did would change those children's future.
