Sweat stains are visible on any color clothing, especially on the white ones. In order to help you deal with that annoying problem, “Cleaners Bermondsey” provides the following cleaning tips on how to get rid of sweat stains. The good thing is that you can use them for stains removal as well.

HYDROGEN PEROXIDE

Take a hydrogen peroxide (过氧化氢) that is either 2 or 3 percent solution(溶液). Pour a few teaspoons onto the stained area of white clothing only. Then rub it into the area well and let it sit for about half an hour. After that, launder(洗涤) as usual. Do not do this to colored clothes, because it will damage the color.

BORIC ACID

A great cleaning solution for any color fabric is 20 Mule Team Borax. Prepare a paste with the boric acid (硼酸) and water and apply it to the stained area. Gently rub it into and leave it like that for about half an hour. Scrub the area with a brush or sponge and launder as usual.

WHITE VINEGAR

Apply some vinegar onto the stain and gently rub it into. Let it sit for about half an hour and then clean as you usually do.

LEMON JUICE

Alternatively, you can squeeze fresh lemon juice onto the stain or use the bottled lemon juice. If you choose to use that approach, gently rub the lemon juice into the stain, allow it to sit for about half an hour. Then clean as normal. You can also pour the lemon juice onto it and hang the shirt in the sun. The sun may help to get the stain out and the acid in the lemon juice helps.

ASPIRIN

Prepare a paste from crushed aspirin tablets dissolved in water. Then apply it to the stained area. Gently rub it into, and let it sit on the shirt for about half an hour.

56. Which of the following is TRUE of the cleaning tips?
- A. The longer aspirin stays on the stain, the better.

57. When you use hydrogen peroxide, what calls for special attention is that _____.
- A. you should allow it to sit for about half an hour

 - D. you should rub it into the stained area gently
58. When your water supply is cut off, you can use _____ to clean the sweat stain.
- A. boric acid B. white vinegar C. lemon juice D. aspirin
59. What would be the best title of the passage?

People think being an artist must be a wonderful way to earn one's living. And of course, there are lots of great things about working for oneself, at home alone, even in a cold studio like mine. What I really like is that nobody tells me what time to start in the morning. I like to paint as soon as I wake up, which is always early, but isn't the same time every day. And nobody tells me what to wear; or whether I can take the afternoon off and go to a football match.

But then, I have no one to chat with when I'm bored, no one to discuss last night's match with during the lunch hour. Sure, I can spend the afternoon doing something I enjoy like swimming, walking the dog, or even sleeping, if I choose. But the work will still be there when I do finally get back home, and it's still got to be finished in time.

Unfortunately, working at home means that people can always find me, whether I'm bored or not and once I've answered the doorbell, it's too late —my thoughts have been interrupted. No one would dream of calling if I worked in an office, but in an office I find myself making cups of coffee and listening to friends' troubles. As they talk, my ideas disappear and I feel increasingly stressed thinking of my work waiting to be done.

However, when I hear the traffic news on the radio, and imagine my friends sitting miserably in their cars in a jam, feeling bored, or waiting unhappily for an overcrowded train in the rain, I realize that I really haven't got much to complain about. I find a CD which will start me thinking, turn it up really loudly and begin another picture.

60. In the passage the writer is trying to _____.
- A. encourage readers to work at home B. explain the advantages of being an artist
 - C. describe his working life as an artist D. show how he begins a picture
61. What does the writer like about his working life?
- A. He has plenty of opportunities for sport.

- B. He can do things without being told by others.
- C. He needn't work in the morning.
- D. He has a comfortable place to work in.

62. The writer plays loud music because _____.

- A. the traffic outside is noisy
- B. it helps him to have ideas
- C. it prevents him from feeling bored
- D. he doesn't want to hear the doorbell

63. Which of these notices would be the most useful for the writer to put on his door?

- A. I'm working—please don't disturb.
- B. Please knock before entering.
- C. I'm listening to music—join me
- D. Come in and have a chat.

C

While I was on my way to Walmart, I was greeted by an older woman who was working at the door as a greeter. I had a return to make so she stopped me and asked to tag(加标签于)my bag. Usually I would have gotten annoyed because I know I don't steal, so why does my bag need to be tagged? I'd just witnessed someone ahead of me being not so nice, and treating this lady like she was a nobody. I could see this lady looked to be at retirement age, trying to make ends meet. The look on her face and the energy she gave was that of someone afraid and not knowing where they stood in life. Not to mention the person ahead of me who'd just snatched(夺) a bag back from her and stormed off without even saying thank you. I could tell this woman was hurt by that, and no one knew how many people had been treating her that way all day long.

What if she was a grandmother who'd recently taken care of her grandchildren for whatever reason? What if her husband recently fell sick and they couldn't afford the medical expenses, so she had to go back to work? What if she just lost everything she had in her retirement and now she had to go back to work?

All she wants is to do her job and do it well. All she wants is to serve customers the way she was trained. All she needs is to be appreciated. Can I be that someone she needs, just for the moment?

I looked her in her eyes as she scanned my bag, smiled and said, "Your hair is beautiful and fits you well!" Her face lit up and she smiled back and began to tell me how much easier it is to manage. It was salt-and-pepper hair and was cut in the prettiest style. She handed my bag back, smiled and told me the service desk was straight down to my left. I said "Thank you!"

64. At the door of Walmart, the old woman _____.

- A. asked every customer for money to feed her family
- B. was made to welcome customers and check their bags
- C. was asked to keep the door open all the time
- D. worked as a guide to give customers directions

65. Seeing the look of the old woman and the treatment she received, the author _____.

- A. became annoyed
- B. showed sympathy
- C. was puzzled
- D. turned generous

66. It could be learned from paragraph 2 that the author _____.

- A. didn't understand why the old woman did such a job
- B. insisted the old woman should stay at home comfortably

- C. was sure the old woman was respected by people
D. supposed the old woman might be in trouble for some reason
67. By saying “Your hair is beautiful and fits you well!” the author wanted to _____.
A. make the old woman feel appreciated B. please her so as not to let her bag tagged
C. praise her for her hair style and clothes D. confirm her hard work and special beauty

A person’s nose is important for breathing and smelling. The nose is also used in many popular expressions.

Some people can lead other people by the nose. For example, if a wife leads her husband by the nose, she makes him do whatever she wants him to do.

Some people are said to be hard-nosed. They will not change their opinions or positions on anything. If someone is hard-nosed, chances are he will never pay through the nose, or pay too much money, for an object or service.

It is always helpful when people keep their nose out of other people’s business. They do not interfere(干涉). The opposite of this is someone who noses around all the time. This kind of person is interested in other people’s private matters. He is considered nosey.

More problems can develop if a person looks down his nose at someone or something. The person acts like something is unimportant or worthless. This person might also turn up his nose at something that he considers not good enough. This person thinks he is better than everyone else. He has his nose in the air.

In school, some students thumb their nose at their teacher. They refuse to obey orders or do any work. Maybe these students do not know the correct answers. My mother always told me, if you study hard, the answers should be right under your nose or easily seen.

I think we have explained the nose expressions. What about ears? Well, I hope you are all ears or very interested in hearing more expressions. We might even put a bug in your ear or give you an idea about something. We also advise you to keep your ear to the ground. This means to be interested in what is happening around you and what people are thinking.

If you are a good person, you will lend an ear to your friends. You will listen to them when they have a problem they need to talk about.

68. If a person is interested in other people’s private matters, he may _____.
A. nose around all the time B. keep his nose out of other people’s things
C. turn up his nose at others D. put a bug in his ear
69. When your friend wants to share something with you, you should _____.
A. put a bug in his ear B. look down your nose at him
C. lend an ear to him D. lead him by the nose
70. In which sentence is the expression not used properly?
A. We have a real hard-nosed boss, who always stands firm in his opinions.
B. Sometimes true love is right under your nose.
C. You can do it and don’t get yourself led by the nose.

D. It is important for us to thumb our nose at our parents.
