Friendship is one of the most beautiful things in the world. There are many wonderful songs to celebrate it over years. The song I will play for you is one of them.

Millions of Americans will hear this song on New Year's Eve. People call it AuldLangSyne (《友谊地久天长》). It is a traditional song during the New Year's celebration on New Year's Eve. AuldLangSyne was once an old Scottish poem (诗歌). It tells us to remember our old friends. No one knows who wrote the poem first. However, a Scottish poet (诗人) Robert Burns published it in 1796, and the words and the music first appeared in a songbook three years later.

The Washington Saxophone Quartet played the music of the song you are hearing now. We will end our programme with AuldLangSyne. I believe whether you are happy or not, whether you are rich or poor, your friends will be always with you!

This is Buddy Thomas. Turn up your radio and enjoy the song. Thank you for listening.
